In one way and another a good deal of the inner leaking out. The latest instalment is the state ime before the republican national convention of the general and his active support in the canvass. On the same authority it is stated that Gen. Sherman replied, declaring in the most positive terms, "not only that he would not take the nomination, but that he would not consent to be elected, and that if he should be elected against his will, he would refuse to serve."

Whether or not a correspondence of this precise hape passed between Blaine and Sherman it is well known that the general has on more than one occasion expressed himself on his proposed candi-dacy for the presidency in very much such terms as those attributed to him here.

WHAT A MODEL HUSBAND RESOLVED TO SWEAR OFF.

"Mary," said a Washington husband, "what shall I swear off this year? You know that last year to please you I swore off smoking, and I kept my swear."
"Well, John, I don't know what you can swear off this year. You don't drink, you don't chew, you don't alone to the theater and try to make me believe you were sitting up with a sick friend. In fact, John, I don't know what new leaf you can turn, unless it's to stop being so extravagant about clothing."
"Me extravagant, Mary! Pshaw! No, I like to look

"Say, John, did you ever try Victor E. Adler's Ten Per Cent Clothing House?" "No, but I've heard it very highly spoken of. Those who buy there tell me that it is the best and cheapest clothing house in Washington." "Well, John, suppose you discard high-price tailors for a while and try Adler's Ten Per Cent Clothing House. I know that by buying there you can dress just as well as you do now, and at half the expense Will you promise?"

The Water Works of Kansas City have been in successful operation for more than ten years. The unparalleled growth of the city in population and business, with a proportionate increase in the use of water, has necessitated a large addition to the plant and the change of the source or supply to a point on the Missouri river several miles above the city. For this purpose the National Water Works Company (by which the works were built and are owned) has lately acquired the works in Kansas City, Kansas, (opposite Kansas City, Misscuri) and will now serve both cities, estimated at over 150,000 population. The Company has made an issue of $1,500,000 Six Per Cent Water Supply Bonds, secured by mortrage on the works, to provide means for these extensions. The annual net earnings are now about $220,000, as per official statements, and the entire interest charge embracing these bonds when all are issued will be only $180,000, there being a previous issue of $1,500,000.

This is without any estimate for the largely increased earnings to be derived from the late acquisitions and the entire interest charge embracing these strengths.
